Building Group Breaks Ground on New Headquarters and Training Facility for ABC-Virginia Near Washington Project Seeking LEED® Gold Certification

The Building Group joined the Associated Builders and Contractors of Virginia (ABC-VA) and architect Morgan Gick McBeath & Associates, PC at a formal groundbreaking event today to celebrate construction of ABC-VA's new headquarters and training facility in Dulles (Loudoun County) near Washington, D.C. The 30,000-square-foot, single-story, tilt-up concrete facility is designed to achieve LEED® Gold Certification.

Earlier this year, the Building Group was selected by ABC-VA to provide preconstruction and construction management at risk services for their new facility. "It is a great compliment to us to build for an organization of builders," said Luther Cochrane, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of the Building Group.

ABC-VA had long since outgrown its old facility and according to ABC-VA President Patrick Dean, this "larger facility will increase our capability to provide world-class training to the construction industry." ABC-VA will occupy about half of the building; the remaining "barely lit, barely warm" flex space will be leased to a tenant. The Building Group broke ground in late fall 2009. Completion is slated for May 2010.
